About AWFISHNET

Background

- Fish and fishery products provide food and nutrition security, income generation livelihoods and economic development for many African countries and people.

- Recent statistics reveal that women make up more than one fourth (27%) of the workforce in the African fisheries and aquaculture sector. The great majority of women are employed in post-harvest (91.5%) making significant contribution to food security, livelihoods and household incomes,

- Women remain marginalized within sector, both in terms of their fishing-related activities and their role in decision-making processes.
A lack of access to credit, low levels of literacy, low bargaining power due partly to weak organization etc, access to and management of the fishery resources, are just some of the effects of the marginalization of women in the sector.

An underlying problem is that at women have been excluded from decision-making processes at all levels, from community level to state level.
High level policy interventions

- 2014, African HSG endorsed the Malabo declaration,

- Committed to boosting Intra-African trade in Agricultural Commodities and Services and to harnessing markets and trade opportunities.

- Resolved to triple, intra-African trade in agricultural commodities and services by the year 2025. (fish enlisted as one of the priority commodity)

- Commitment to Halving Poverty by the year 2025, through Inclusive Agricultural Growth and Transformation
  - Sustain Annual sector growth in Agricultural GDP at least 6%
  - Establish and/or strengthen inclusive public-private partnerships for at least five (5) priority agricultural commodity value chains with strong linkage to smallholder agriculture.
  - Create job opportunities for at least 30% of the youth in agricultural value chains.
  - Preferential entry & participation by women and youth in gainful and attractive agribusiness

PFRS: Policy actions on SSF and Gender considerations

- SSF: Major expected Outcomes:
  - Fishers are organized to foster good fisheries governance, sustainable development and responsible use of natural resources
  - Capacity of fisheries stakeholders and institutions for participatory management of the fisheries are developed and nurtured

- Gender and youth development
  - To recognize the critical role played by women and put in place mechanisms to promote and protect women’s rights to participate in all aspects of fisheries and aquaculture.
  - Seek to improve access of women to fish and fish markets, particularly through the provision of credit at affordable rates.
AWFISHNET Conception

- October 2016: ToT workshop on Fish Handling, Hygiene and SPS Measures along the Post-Harvest value chain (Uganda and Senegal)
- A strong recommendation to AU-IBAR facilitate the establishing a continental network
AWFISHNET Launched April 2017
Dar Es Salaam - Tanzania
OBJECTIVES

- Facilitate collaboration and cooperation between women fish processors and traders associations in the continent;
- Share best practices, experiences, technologies and learning together;
- Advocate for issues affecting women’s activities and facilitate enabling policy environment to enhance their role in the fisheries sector in the continent;
- Attract increased public & private investment in fish post-harvest sector (fish processing and trading);
- Strengthen their role as SME and hence expand their market and marketing opportunities, resulting in improved intra-regional African fish trade.
- Improved Food and Nutrition security
- to improve the quality of life of women and their households.
Specific Objectives

For Establishing a network of African women fish processors and traders associations:
